Distribution of Fund Drive Literature Through Students

Many community drives are organized for raising funds for worthy nonprofit causes. The public schools are frequently called upon to distribute literature calling for these funds. In some cases, the schools are asked to collect the money; in other cases, only to make the information known through the children to their parents.

Although the schools recognize that much good is derived from such drives, it is the policy of the District to refrain from having the students, as student body members, used for such collection or dissemination purposes.

Exceptions to this policy will be considered by the superintendent when recognized student or school-affiliated organizations of the District request permission to participate in such activity.
